NOTES

TRAIN I.D.

The six character identification shown at the top of individual train columns in the following pages against the description "Train ID." is for the purpose of train identification.

The first character (numeral) denotes the train classification; the second (letter) denotes the destination Region, groups of services or routes (as the case may be); the third and fourth characters (numerals) are progressive numbers which provide individual train identification. The last two characters (letters) are for train planning purposes only. Light Locomotives are given the letter and last two numbers of the service which they are to work or have just worked, except changeover locos between Didcot & Eastleigh, Westbury & Eastleigh and Toton & Hither Green.

DAYS RUN

M	Monday	TH	Thursday	EWD	Monday to Saturday
T	Tuesday	F	Friday
W	Wednesday	S	Saturday	SUN	Sunday

- O The addition of the letter "O" indicates that the train will run on that day or those days only.
- X The addition of the letter "X" indicates that the train will not run on that day or those days.

OPERATING CHARACTERISTICS

- | | | | |
|---|-----------------------|---|---|
| G | Train person required | Q | Runs when required |
| | | Y | Runs to and from Terminals/Yards as determined by traffic demand. |

♣ Denotes an International Train Service. May convey traffic to SBI-c gauge. Routes have been specially cleared and trains must not be diverted from booked route without Network Rail Control authority.

TIMING LOAD

All trains will normally be worked by Diesel locomotives unless shown otherwise as a note in the timing column.
Details of the tonnages conveyed are as shown in the Freight Train Loads Book issued by the Ops Planning Manager, Network Rail Southern.

Trains with an X headcode

The use of an X in the headcode of a train shown in this working timetable indicates that the train conveys an exceptional load for which special conditions apply. Signallers must ensure that they are in possession of the special conditions relevant to the trains(s).

Timing Load descriptions

The Timing Load description depicts the particular combination of trailing weight and traction type used for timing the train. The timing load used for any particular train is separate from and does not override the maximum load applicable for the route and traction concerned as published by Network Rail.

To avoid excessively large numbers of different timing loads, a banded approach has been adopted for loads in regular use, with steps approximately every 200 tonnes. In some cases the Sectional Running Times (SRTs) may be common to two or more timing load bands pending review of the data used to determine the timings.

The descriptions used reflect the limitation of 8 characters imposed by train planning systems. The following three formats are currently used for freight timing load descriptions;

- I Diesel hauled class 4,6, 7, and 8 trains (other than class 60 hauled - see below) without specifying a particular traction class. The maximum trailing weight on which the timing is based can be determined by reference to the Timing Reference Matrix.

45	-	TR70
Max speed of the train	Indicates whether the timings incorporate RT 3973 speed restrictions	Timing Reference number
	B = Both (i.e. a Heavy Axle Weight Container train) C = Container H = Heavy Axle weight - = Standard SRTs

2 Used for Class 60 hauled services

60	H	60	S	12
Max speed of the train	Indicates whether the timings incorporate RT 3973 speed restrictions	Loco class	Indicates whether the train is single or double headed	trailing weight - upper limit of a two hundred tonne band. (i.e. 12 indicates a weight between 1001 and 1200 tonnes)
	B = Both (i.e. a Heavy Axle Weight Container train) C = Container H = Heavy Axle weight train - = Standard SRTs	Loco class number.	S = single headed D = Double headed	Where appropriate a leading zero is used. (e.g 08 represents 601 - 800 tonnes)

3 Used for other freight services i.e. electrically hauled and other specific load and traction combinations

75	C	86	D	12
Max speed of the train	Indicates whether the timings incorporate RT 3973 speed restrictions	Loco class	Indicates whether the train is single or double headed	trailing weight in hundreds of tonnes with final two figures omitted. (i.e. 12 indicates a weight between 1200 and 1299)
	B = Both (i.e. a Heavy Axle Weight Container train) C = Container H = Heavy Axle weight - = Standard SRTs	Loco class number.	S = single headed D = Double headed	For less than 1000 tonnes a leading zero is used, i.e. 08 indicates 800 - 899 tonnes

Class 66

Pending a full evaluation of the characteristics of the Class 66, the Class 56 values shown above should be used, subject to any maximum load for a Class 66 over the route(s) in question.

Timing Loads used for Container or Heavy Axle Weight Trains

A separate series of timing loads will be used for trains conveying Containers or Heavy Axle weight vehicles and therefore subject to specific restrictions. It is the intention that such restrictions will in future be incorporated in the Sectional Running Times for these trains although this may not universally be the case at present.

Double Headed trains

The Working Manual for Rail Staff, Freight Train Operations (GO/RM3056), section C7 contains instructions regarding Assisted Train Loads. However it may not necessarily be the case that double heading a train and increasing the weight hauled as per C7 will enable the Sectional Running Times as published for a single locomotive to be maintained. Where possible specific double headed timing loads are shown.
